A metaphor is an analogy between two objects or ideas. Some theorists have suggested that metaphors are not merely stylistic, but that they are cognitively important as well. In Metaphors We Live By George Lakoff and Mark Johnson argue that metaphors are pervasive in everyday life, not just in language, but also in thought and action.

Architecture as Metaphor | The MIT Press

Metaphoric architecture is an architectural movement that developed in Europe during the mid-20th century.. It is considered by some to be merely an aspect of postmodernism whilst others consider it to be a school in its own right and a later development of expressionist architecture.. The style is characterised by the use of analogy and metaphor as the primary inspiration and directive for ...
