As you can see, guitar tabs are basically a text-representation of the fretboard, rotated, as if the guitar were in front of you. Notes are read from left to right. In this tab we play the high "e" open string 3 times, then the 1st fret of the "B" string once, the high "e" open string once, the 3rd fret of the high "e" string once, and then the open string of the "G" string.

The picture above shows you the notes of the fretboard. At first sight, it seems just a big mess: many frets, sharps, flats. If you need help deciphering this map, for now just know that in the diagram the thickest string (E) is at the bottom of the image, and the guitar headstock is on the left.. Basically, the diagram is created with the same point of view of a guitar player playing his/her axe.
