A River Out of Eden by John Hockenberry - Goodreads

The DNA 'River' Richard Dawkins' exposition of a Darwinian view of life in River Out of Eden certainly fits into the overt anti-theism category. His River Out of Eden is a river of DNA that is the true source of life and the one molecule that must be understood if life is to be understood.

Out Of Eden-River

The Bible says that a single river flowed "out" of Eden and then does something that most rivers DO NOT do; specifically, split into four separate "heads" or rivers that flowed downstream, all fed from a common single river source. Almost all rivers start from a single source or are fed by multiple sources (tributaries).

Introduction — River Out of Eden

2 RIVER OUT OF EDEN of our ancestors was felled by an enemy, or by a virus, or by a misjudged footstep on a cliff edge, before bringing at least one child into the world. Thousands of our ancestors' contemporaries failed in all these respects, but not a single solitary one of our ancestors failed in any of them.

The name of the third river is Chidekel; that is the one that flows to the east of Ashur. And the fourth river, that is Perat. What can be clearly deduced from a cursory reading of these verses is that there exist four rivers, Pishon, Gichon, Chidekel and Perat, which all seemingly flow from the same source, the Garden of Eden.

Called id Idikla by the Accadians, the river of Idikla is associated with the Tigris which is the furthest Eastern point designated by these four rivers in Eden. It relates to Assyria, which we don't have to present; this is a well-known Eastern People and Empire referred to over 120 times in the Old Testament.

River Out Of Eden A

In River Out of Eden he introduces general readers to some fairly abstract problems in evolutionary biology, gently guiding us through the tangles of mitochondrial DNA and the survival-of-the-fittest ethos. (Superheroes need not apply: Dawkins writes, "The genes that survive . . . will be the ones that are good at surviving in the average environment of the species.")

River Out of Eden - Wikipedia

There is a point in River Out of Eden when the stark brutality of nature really hits home. With a nervous system programmed to kill anything that moves near its young unless it emits a babies cry, a deaf mother turkey mistakes her children for predators and, in a bid to protect them, ends up massacring every last one.

The Nature of Eden's River 10 And a river went out of Eden to water the garden; and from thence it was parted, and became four heads. Modern readers of the Bible often mistake the phrase "from thence it was parted and became four heads" to mean that the headwaters of four rivers originated in Eden. In fact, the exact opposite is indicated.
