Some programmes, such as Workers Playtime which began during WW2, were still running from 'A factory somewhere in England'. A few artistes of that time would turn up at a Factory Canteen and entertain live to the workers. Singers were accompanied by Piano only and this was inbetween comedians such as Arthur Askey, Tommy Trinder, Charlie Chester and Ted Ray etc.

I also love performing with classical orchestras – I would have loved to have been a diva! I often perform ‘Peter and the Wolf’ and ‘Tubby the Tuba’ with some amazing orchestras all over the country. I have never but would love to do a recording of either of these, performing with large orchestras is out of this world.
